About GLP-1 & Lifestyle Medicine Group Coaching Series

Our GLP-1 and lifestyle medicine group coaching experience offers the opportunity to learn more about GLP-1 medications and their interactions with other key health variables such as nutrition, exercise, stress, and sleep.

The real power of group coaching, however, lies in the community that we create together. A group coaching experience creates a trusting space for exploring your journey alongside people with similar goals. In this collaborative and safe environment, you are more likely to discover something new that will help you grow. Sharing similar interests, objectives, and achievements can empowers everyone in the group.

The GLP-1 & Lifestyle Medicine group coaching experience will meet for 6 weeks. Over that time, relationships will develop, learning and growth will be fostered, and focus and direction will be achieved.

To RSVP, email info@northcypressinternalmedicine.com
